MONTANA KAIMIN

STATE UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA, MISSOULA, MONTANA

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1929.

VOLUME XXVIII, NO. 34.

INVITATIONS MAILED TO 168 HIGH SCHOOLS FOR ANNUAL MEET

May 8, 9, 10, Dates Set for Twenty-Sixth Annual Trackmeet; Drop 50-Yard Dash From Program; Other Minor Changes.

One hundred sixty-eight invitations to participate in the 26th Interscholastic Track and Field Meet were sent to as many accredited high schools in Montana by the Interscholastic committee of the University, according to R. H. Jesse, chairman of the committee. The Meet is to be held here May 8, 9, and 10.

Due to the increasing number of entrants some few changes were necessitated in the plans for what now is the second largest meet of its kind in the United States. The chief change in the athletic program is the complete elimination of the 50 yard dash. With more than 100 entries in this event the contestants would be weakened by the necessary number of heats to decide the finalists. As most of the schools rely upon one or two sprinters to carry them through the smaller schools would be at a decided handicap. The 100 yard dash will be the junior sprint in the future.

Golf Tournament.

The committee in charge has decided definitely to award a medal to this year's winner of the golf tournament. The game this year will be conducted under the medal play rules and will be limited to boys. No railroad or living expenses will be paid by the committee.

For the first time in the history of Interscholastic a tennis tournament will be held. This event also will be limited to boys and both singles and doubles events will be decided. The committee cannot at this time pay the expenses of entrants in this event although all schools are urged to enter teams.

In the declamation contests changes were deemed advisable. There will be no division of humorous and serious sections in this year's declamation contests. The boys' and girls' contests will still be separate. Any contestant, boy or girl, may choose a serious or a humorous piece but he or she will be in competition with any other selections that fall by lot into the preliminary contest. This change is made in order to stimulate the selection of better quality pieces of humor.

Reading Contest.

Last year the extemporaneous reading contest was initiated. The first contest, held in the University auditorium, was regarded as a very promising thing. Due to the nature of the contest the committee has made this proposal.

If ten or more high schools have agreed, by today, to send a contestant in extemporaneous reading, the contest will become a regular part of the Interscholastic meet. Any other schools will be permitted to enter thereafter.

The committee has announced that the essay contest this year is open for essays on any subject, which have been written this year by students eligible under the standing rules. This change is made in favor of those schools which have been doing good work in composition, but have been unable to shift attention to the special subjects that the Interscholastic committee has

BUNYAN ARRIVES; ALL SET FOR BIG DANCE TONIGHT

Towering evergreens on every side, lights dimmed by an overhanging bower of intermingling branches, thick growth of underbrush on all sides—thus will the dance floor of the Men's Gym appear tonight.

Early this afternoon the decoration committee completed their work. The Ringer's Dream is arranged. The bar is set. All is ready for the annual invasion of Paul Bunyon and his gigantic ox, Babe.

Several surprises have been withheld, according to Howard Dix, who is in charge of the ball, and chief among these will be the feature of the supper hour. Several dance features have also been signed.

Quartets Entertain.

This morning at an early hour several quartets of foresters set out to entertain the women of the University. Groups started at different hours and played a round robin series on the campus, including all houses and the residential halls.

Honor guests for the evening include Governor and Mrs. J. E.

Varsity Men's Debate Team Now Selected

Robert Williams, James Beck, Russell Smith In First Trio.

Three men were chosen for the men's Varsity debate team in the debate tryouts Tuesday evening. Two of the men selected will make the California trip, leaving here April 1, for a two weeks tour of Pacific coast colleges. The trio is Robert Williams, James Beck and Russell Smith. Another team consisting of James Garlington, Charles Johnson and William Neherbor was chosen at the same time. Two of these men will meet Lawrence College of Appleton, Wisconsin, here April 4.

The team making the California trip will debate on three different subjects during the two week tour. These are as follows: Resolved, that the plea of temporary insanity as a defense of crime should be abolished. Montana will take the affirmative side of the question. The second is the negative of the question. Resolved: that a substitute should be adopted for the trial by jury system. The third is the negative of the question. Resolved: that the Russian proposal for total disarmament should be adopted.

Different Types.

Hugh Lindsey, debate coach, says: "The men will participate in different types of debating. The coast schools are rather partial to the informal school of debate. At Oregon State College they will have the cross examination style also known as the Oregonian style. The debate at Stanford will be a no decision contest, a vote will be taken of the audience. At Oregon University the debate will be broadcasted over the radio. The men will be required to be able to adjust themselves to the various types."

W. E. MADDOCK SPEAKS BEFORE EDUCATION CLUB

'The Junior College' Topic Of Address; Censures Educators.

Professor W. E. Maddock, of the Education department, addressed members of the Education club on "The Junior College" at a meeting Tuesday evening in Main hall.

According to Professor Maddock, "The Junior college is one of the recent movements in higher education. The directory of the U. S. Bureau of Education for 1928 listed 153 in the United States, of which 50 are a part of a public school system, the others are chiefly private endowed tuition schools.

Two Years' Work.

"The Junior college offers two years' work acceptable to universities and colleges, and acts as a finishing school for many not going to college, and provides certain types of occupational training.

"Educators usually take the position that the Junior college should not be attempted except in communities possessing the population and financial resources that will make possible the development of institutions of high quality. They also take the position that the Junior college should not be developed into a four-year degree institution."

A lunch and social period concluded the meeting.

Entertain Pledges At Smoker Tuesday

Fay Clark and "Jelly" Elliott Speak At Phi Sig Gathering.

Pledges of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity were guests of the active members at a smoker at the chapter house last Tuesday night.

A short program was given. Two alumni members present gave talks. They were Professor Fay Clark of the Forestry school and Harvey (Jelly) Elliott. The talks were followed by entertainment features given by Frank Tierney, Donald Foss, George Martin, Andrew Glacobazzi and Billy Potter. Coffee and doughnuts were served.

$25 TO WINNING ACTS IN VARSITY VODVIL, IS NEW BOARD DECISION

New Award Expected to Cause Keener Competition. Cups Also Will Be Given; Students Favor Plan.

Keener competition than there has been in the past may now be expected as the result of a decision of Central Board to award $25 to each of the winning acts in Varsity Vodvil for this year. The idea was proposed by Douglas Burns, manager of Vodvil for this year, and was approved by members of the student governing board.

The awards are only additional in that they do not eliminate the giving of cups for the first two places, as has been the custom in former years. The cups have been ordered and are now on their way to Missoula. Burns says that cups will also be given as prizes in years to come.

There was no other change in the status of Varsity Vodvil proposed. Prizes will be given to each of the best men's and best women's acts as formerly.

Approval of a list of 20 possible judges who may officiate at both the tryouts tomorrow and the finals March 2 was also made by Central board. Not all of the 20 on the list will be asked to be judges. Their names will be announced later.

Student Favor.

Students, generally, on the campus, when asked of their opinion regarding the additional awards, were in favor of them. One said, "It seems no more than right that an organization, after putting much time and talent into a production, should receive something tangible in return." This was the consensus of many others.

Tryouts of the 18 entrants for places in the finals will take place tomorrow from nine until four o'clock in the Little theater. Seven of the eighteen acts will be picked for the finals.

Acts must be at the theater twenty minutes before their scheduled time to go on, Burns says. No other act than the one on the stage at the time of its tryout will be allowed in the auditorium.

March Issue Frontier Appears Wednesday

Will Contain Work of Five Students on Campus; Well-Known Writers Also Included.

Wednesday, February 20, the March issue of The Frontier will go on sale at the Students' Store and the Library. This issue will contain the work of five students on the campus as well as stories and articles by well-known writers of the Northwest.

Outstanding among student contributions is a short story of sheepherding by Robert Tod Struckman a junior in the School of Journalism. According to Professor Bransell Fitzgerald of the English department this story "is notable in that it attains utter realism with a complete escape from sentimentality."

Other students whose work appears in this issue are: Alicia O'Donnell, a sophomore in the English department; Richard West, sophomore in the School of Journalism and Emma MacKinnon, freshman in Journalism. Dorothy Gill, a student at Reed College, is also a contributor to this issue.

In speaking of the Frontier Professor Fitzgerald said "In spite of the fact that the Frontier publishes the work of professionals who are among the best writers of the Northwest, it has not gone to press without some work by students. To make the Frontier, in competition with these more mature writers is an achievement for any student."

Poetry Contributions.

Poetry contributors to this issue will include the names of Mary Brennan Clapp, author of the words to "The Warriors" Ernest Erikilla, a graduate from the English department last year; and Edoua Watson, professor at New York University.

A short story, "Common Sailor" by Bill Adams will be of interest to readers. Mr. Adams has written for the Saturday Evening Post, Adventure and other well-known magazines and his work has appeared in the O'Brien collections. "Common Sailor" is a true account of incidents which took place in the port of Portland many years ago.

The number of yellow slips issued to the women students this quarter is considered as being about average.

House Bill 42 Defeated in State Senate

Small Majority Disapprove Of Increase in Revenue.

House Bill 42, supported and written in cooperation with other representatives by William Jameson of Billings, president of the University Alumni Association, was defeated in the state senate at Helena Tuesday by a small majority. It had previously been passed in the house of representatives.

The bill was one which provided for increased revenue for the state. It provided for a hundred percent classification of assessable property in the state, thus increasing the revenue of the state and having a direct bearing on the financing of the Greater University of Montana.

Income Small.

"Income of the state of Montana has not equalled its expenditures, except on rare occasions, for many years," said Senator Cowan in presenting his plea that the bill be kept alive. He added, "I ask that the bill be held at least in abeyance until we can find whether we are to have a better measure presented, or until some means of raising additional revenue be found."

The only other bill which has any relation to taxation is one introduced by Representative W. B. Leavitt of Custer county which proposes that the problem of taxation be introduced before the people at the general election two years hence. This would mean hardship for institutions of higher education in Montana, as the special tax levy for them expires at the end of the present year.

Governor J. E. Erickson, in his annual message, stated that the legislators would not return to their homes until satisfactory settlement had been made of the taxation question. So at present it seems that conditions are in more or less of a deadlock.

STATE COLLEGE STUDENT GETS HIGH RATING

Matt Pakala, Rhodes Scholar, Receives Senior Standing.

Matt Pakala, Rhodes scholar from Montana State College at Bozeman, has been given an unusual ranking at Oxford, according to word reaching here from Bozeman.

Instead of the junior rating which he had first been given, Pakala now has been awarded senior standing. This will enable him to secure three degrees in two years. This fact is all the more unusual because there are few Rhodes scholars from institutions of the type of Montana State, which is primarily a technical school. Mr. Pakala will not have to take entrance or intermediate examinations.

"The most significant feature of this," said President A. Atkinson, "is that Montana State is obviously given international ranking as one of the United States' finest schools, and though a technical school, has been given a high classical rating by this acceptance of one of her students. The English school is one of the greatest classical schools in the world today."

Pat T. Tucker, an old-time cowboy now living in Livingston, has contributed an article on Buffalo in the Judith Basin for the Open Range section and with it will be used a letter to Mr. Tucker from Charley Russell, on which is an original painting by the artist.

"Dick's Works", the story of an overland journey to California in 1882 by Richard Owen Hickman will occupy the historical section.

Authors Club Will Meet Saturday Eve

Report of Last Summer's Work on Flathead Lake to Be Given.

Last summer's work on Flathead lake will be the report at a meeting of the Authors club Saturday evening, February 16, at the University. The report will be given by Professors M. J. Elrod, J. W. Howard, G. D. Shallenberger, and R. T. Young. It was while engaged in this research work that the tragic death of Dr. Kirkwood occurred.

The meeting will be featured by a dinner at 6:30 after which the program will be held.

Fraternities and sororities may not pledge freshmen, if a bill now up before the Nebraska legislature is passed.

36th ANNIVERSARY OF THE UNIVERSITY FOUNDING, SUNDAY

Charter Day to Be Celebrated With Special Program. Dean Stone to Deliver Address on "Anniversaries." Music.

Sunday is the occasion of the celebration of the 36th anniversary of the founding of the State University of Montana, and will be commemorated with a special program in Main hall at 4 p. m. Dr. C. H. Clapp will preside over the program. The address will be delivered by Dean A. L. Stone. His subject will be "Anniversaries". A musical program will be rendered under the direction of DeLoss Smith, professor of music.

Bobcat-Grizzly Contest May Be State-Wide Meet

Negotiations are now being made by Coach Stewart to make the annual dual meet between the Grizzlies and Bobcats an intercollegiate affair. If the plan is adopted it would bring to Missoula each year not only the Montana State track squad but also the School of Mines, Mt. St. Charles, Intermountain Union College and the Dillon Normal.

The plan is now being presented to the officials at the Montana State College and if they agree the University will be host to the two largest meets in the country, with the intercollegiate meet being held here annually.

Women's Debate Tryouts Monday

Team Will Meet Men From Arizona in April.

Tryouts for the women's debate team will be held in Main hall and auditorium February 18, at 7:30 p. m. Candidates for the team will speak on the subject, resolved, that the Kellogg pact should be adopted by all nations. The two women selected for the team will meet the men's varsity team of the University of Arizona here April 1.

The speeches in the tryouts will be limited to five minutes, and four minutes will be allowed for rebuttal. Considerable interest has been manifested in women's debate this year, according to Hugh Lindsey, varsity debate coach; and it is expected that the co-eds will be well represented in the tryouts.

The University of Arizona team will visit Missoula during the tour which will include a number of colleges along the Pacific coast and in the Northwest.

Famous Parson's Life Is Written

Weems, Who Told of Cherry Tree, Is in Biography.

A biography of Mason Locke Weems left unfinished by Paul Leicester Ford and edited by his sister, Emily Ellsworth Ford Skeel, has been received at the Library this week, according to Miss Gertrude Buckhous. The biography, which is in three volumes, contains, in addition to the life of Weems, bibliographical notes on his works.

Mason Locke Weems, well known clergyman and writer, is famous particularly for his "Life of Washington" which first appeared in 1800. Since then it has run into scores of editions and is widely known as the first book in which the cherry tree episode and numerous other personal glimpses into Washington's life appeared.

WARM WEATHER CAUSES DEEPER GROUND FREEZING

Edward M. Little, assistant professor in Physics, received the following explanation from the United States department of Agriculture weather bureau, which settles the argument as to whether warm weather causes deeper freezing in the ground or not.

C. F. Marvin, chief of the weather bureau, says: "Let there be a protracted very cold spell, freezing the earth to a depth of, say, three feet. Most of this layer will be at a temperature much below freezing. Now if a mild spell should set in, the very cold layer of earth will gain heat from above, where there even may be thawing at the surface, and also continue for a time—perhaps several days—to gain heat from below, thus extending the frozen condition of the soil to greater depths. In this way water pipes sometimes are burst by freezing after a surface thaw has begun. Of course the surface thaw does not cause the deeper freezing, but neither does it immediately stop it."

The first observance of Charter day was held in 1899 when University hall and Science hall were dedicated. The first Charter day was the result of the suggestion of Dr. M. J. Elrod, one of the oldest instructors in the point of service at the University. Dr. Elrod proposed that the anniversary of the signing of the bill by Governor John E. Richards in 1893, creating the University of Montana, should be observed annually as Charter day. Each year since, Charter day has been observed with a fitting program.

The program to be given Sunday afternoon is as follows:

I. Piano duo—"Rolling Fire" Duvernoy

Helga McArthur and Lois Jane Stephenson

II. "How Lovely Art Thy Dwellings" Little

Ramona Noll with Miss Mathews at the piano

III. "Meditation from Thais" Massenet

"Minnet" Haydn

IV. Russell Watson, violin

"A Bayou Ballad" Lilly Strickland

"Love Has Wings" James H. Rogers

Helen Wickes, violin

V. Address—"Anniversaries" Dean A. L. Stone

Secret Documents.

THE next war, according to a German secret document recently printed in the English Review of Reviews, will involve a grouping of Powers around England and France on the one side and the United States on the other. This document, whose authenticity has been admitted by the German government, is a secret memorandum by the German minister of defense, General Groener, defending his plan to build four new armored cruisers. The General sees danger to Germany from two sources: the armed conflict between the groups of Powers mentioned above; and attempts by other Powers, especially Poland, to wrest territory from Germany. The Reich, says its defense minister, must be prepared against these dangers. It must be able to defend its territory against aggressors and to maintain its neutrality by force of arms in the forthcoming world war.

The publication of this memorandum so soon before the Conference on Reparations is rather generally considered embarrassing for the German government, since it is taken to prove that Germany is neither so poor nor so peace-loving as it would have the other Powers believe. Its effect may not be entirely unfortunate for Germany, however. It may be rather salutary for the allied and associated governments to know that their victims have some spirit left. Victorious governments are not prone to give much consideration to the hardships that their demands for indemnity may create for their defeated enemies, as the victors in the late war have amply proved during the last ten years. Nor are they so unrealistic as to be deceived by professions of peaceful sentiment; they know their kind too well for that. They can, however, very well understand a disposition to resist their demands. Germany may be in no position to fight out the question of indemnities; but if it showed a will to resist an indefinite extension of the obligations imposed upon it by the Treaty of Versailles, it is questionable whether, in the present state of international affairs, the victorious Powers would be inclined to resort to force; for there is reason to suspect that such an attempt might reveal a want of harmony among themselves and a considerable amount of disaffection among their peoples.

For ten years now the German government has been making annual payments to its late enemies under a treaty which postulates sole German responsibility for the World War. The researches of scholars in the various countries involved have proved that this claim of German responsibility is a myth created by the allied and associated governments for purposes of propaganda. The diplomatic documents of the period preceding the war prove that the governments of Russia, France, and England were quite as active as the Central Powers in precipitating the conflict. Since this is the history of the matter, the collection of indemnities has no better justification than the old saying "To the victor belong the spoils." It is interesting in this connection to note that the agent general of reparations, Mr. Parker Gilbert, although his recent statement concerning the economic condition of Germany indicates a belief that that country might continue indefinitely the payments required under the Dawes Plan, is reported as being in favor of a definite settlement of the amount still to be collected. Perhaps Mr. Gilbert is a little weary of acting as collector for a group of governments whose tactics are distinguishable from those of a band of highwaymen only by the scale on which their operations are conducted. One could hardly blame him.—The New Student.

DEATH, OR WORSE.

How Gregarious P. Soogan Plumbed the Sinks of Iniquity

"Opulent J. Fungoid, Professor of Ornithology, and Mastication 2c, saw me riding gamely on my Red-Devil Octopus Flash-Flyer Moter-byke," sobbed Gregarious P. Soogan as he lay on his back under the Sink of Iniquity, trying gamely to fix a leak. "He scolded me terribly."

"Get off that One-Man-Hearse," he snarled at me. "Them new-fangled contraptions will be the death of you yet. The younger generation—" he screamed, but I was too overwrought to listen.

"That was the beginning of my fall to this," said Gregarious with a snuffle as his pipe-wrench slipped. "I went from bad to verse. . . Yes, I turned poet."

"In order to live I tried opening safes but after the fourteenth one I had opened, and had found all of them empty, I began to believe that someone was working against me," Gregarious P. Soogan, Sinks of Iniquity Plumbed with Care (Adv.) went to his shop for a gadget. When he returned he went on with his sad, sad story. "It may have been the police who emptied the safes, but I always blamed Opulent J. Fungoid."

"It may have been the police."

"So I went down, down, down, until I was so low I could walk under a duck," he murmured. "I became sensual, over-sensitive, and raw. I let my beard grow (Gregarious was NOT a Forester. Ed. note) and seldom cleaned my nails."

"I even descended so low as to comply with hints of girls to look at their knees. Opulent J. Fungoid was to blame for this," sniffed Gregarious, "and he shall pay for it."

"Cherchez la femme," leered Gregarious. "Her name was Minnie Blunk. She inspired me. She made me get this job as plumber. She made me specialize in Sinks of Iniquity. All that I am or hope to be, I owe to Minnie Blunk," said Gregarious P. Soogan with becoming humility.

The one fortunate thing about the passage of the naval cruiser bill is that it was gotten out of the way before the next naval disarmament conference started. It might have been embarrassing to have the two happen at once.

Dear Maw & Paw:

Ain't got much time to rite, today, becuz I'm awful busy getting ready for the Forsturs Brawl and I'm rushed until I'm dizzy. I'm gonna dress as Calamity Jane—she was an awful tough ol' barmaid of the early days. Believe me, she was rough. I saw a pickeure of her a-smokin' a ceegar. I'm tryin' to learn to do that, now—should have learned in Ingomar.

My boy-friend, he ain't shaved for weeks—twenney-one days it wuz. Now he's got the funniest cheeks, all covered with downy fuzz. Nobody shaves to go to the Brawl, and they don't wear no white shirts. They wouldn't stand fer that at all, and us women can't wear silk skirts. I never been to a Brawl before but I hear it's simply a scream. They've got some sort of place fixed up that they call the "Ranger's Dream". The boy-friend says that's where we'll be 'most every dance, tonight. I'll tell you all about it the very next time I rite.

I went to a new class, today. Elementary Greek. It ain't as bad as people say, and it's easy enough to speak. Mr. Clark (he's our teacher) tells us what all those words mean, but somehow I can't figure how to take what Greek I've seen and say it over in English. It can't be done, that's all. When I'm asked to translate something I just sit there and stall.

Well, Maw, I absolutely gotta quit and get to work prepin' for the Forsturs Brawl; it wouldn't do to shirk. I'm gonna learn to smoke ceegars if it's the last thing that I do. Of course, it may be bad for me, but that ain't nothin new. I'll rite again on Tuesday if I live through the Forsturs dance. If I don't survive, I reckon I'll come home in a ambulance. Honest, Mamma I'm so rushed I dunno what the score o' every-thing is. And now ta-ta.

yer lovin' dawtter,
Dora.

"Good Smoke!"
Says Hubby
"O. K." with Wife

Brooklyn, N. Y.
August 4, 1923

Larus & Bro. Co.,
Richmond, Va., U. S. A.

Dear Sir:
Going to take the pleasure and drop you a few lines to say that my favorite tobacco is your Edgeworth. I have been a user of it for the last eight years and find it's the only tobacco for a real good smoke.

For the last five or six months I have been trying several other kinds but I find Edgeworth is the only tobacco for me.

If I am smoking any other brand my wife will tell me, as she likes the smell of only Edgeworth. When I'm smoking others she opens all windows and doors.

The reason for writing this letter is that I had a card party last night and most all of the party asked me what kind of tobacco I used.

So I told them Edgeworth.

Yours very truly,

ONE-ACT PLAYS

Dramatic Class Gives Fine Presentation.

Three excellent one-act plays were presented at the Little Theater last Tuesday evening. They did not have as large an audience as they deserved. Those who did shake off the lethargy common to students at the University of Montana were rewarded by thrills, bravado, and comedy. One is seldom let down by a performance of the Masquers; these plays were a distinct treat.

The first of the bill was Will of the Wisp, a fantastic little thing which was responsible for the thrills of the evening; those kind of thrills which make one's skin creep in waves from head to toe. This play was marked by the good acting of Martha Rose McKenzie, as the Country Woman who kept the hut at Land's End, in the moors where the spirits live; by the dancing and sinuous attacks of Harri deMers; and by the real grief and fear of Jeannette McGrade, as the Maid, Esther Edwards, who directed the play, took the part of the Poet's Wife. Incidental violin music was furnished by Russell Watson of Missoula High School. Doris Halman wrote the play.

The Man Born to Be Hanged, written by Richard Hughes, was directed by Mary L. Corby. In the cast was Joe Mayo as Mr. Lenora, who snored; George Schotte as Bill, a braggart, scoundrel, and handyman with locks; Clifton Hemgren as Davey, a new man in the bum business; William Nehergon as Mr. Spencer, who ducked when murders got thickish; and Alice Mapes as Nell, who was done wrong by and who died of fright, or something. Miss Mapes was a wild and beautiful Nell and she acted her small part with success and plausibility, which last word is rather a compliment. The name of the play was justified, oddly.

A Proposal Under Difficulties, by John Kenrick Bangs, was directed by Frances Erickson. Good comedy was managed by Harold Ruth, as Bob Yardsley; and the maid Jennie, played by Evelyn Blesser. Elmore Nelson playing Jack Barlow also came to propose. He presented the Difficulties, as advertised in the title. Gertrude Armour, as Dorothy Nelson listened to the proposal and furnished the curtain clink and tea.

Alpha Kappa Psi Hears Patterson

John Patterson of Missoula spoke before a meeting of Alpha Kappa Psi, national commercial fraternity, Wednesday evening at Craig hall. Mr. Patterson is the first of a series of speakers to come before the fraternity as both an interesting and instructive program for the rest of the school year. The meeting Wednesday night marked the silver anniversary of the group.

John Patterson is a charter member of the organization and was initiated Alpha Kappa Psi in 1917.

MASQUERS HOLD INITIATION CEREMONIES FOR 12 STUDENTS

Dramatics Organization Has Membership Of 30.

Masquers initiated a group of 12 last night. These people have met the Masquers' requirement of participation in three Masquers, productions: Claire Frances Linforth, Lydia Maury, Irene Murphy, Rhea Traver, Jane Garton, Marian Hall, Elizabeth McKenzie, Harold Fitzgerald, Phillip Duncan, D. C. Skeels, Albert Erickson and Ray Lewis. Masquers now have thirty members.

This group is an honorary dramatic club. It was founded on the campus before 1920. In 1910 H. G. Merriam, now head of the English department directed them. In 1920 Alexander Dean, now of Yale, produced "He Who Gets Slapped" and many other plays. Under Mr. Dean the Masquers adopted their ruling policy of using new material for their productions. They have tried to avoid the common fault of amateur theater groups—hackneyed material.

In 1921 Roger William and the Masquers presented "Romance" First Local Play.

Masquers produced their first local play in 1924. It was "Polly From Paradise" by their director, George Cronyn.

The Little Theater on the campus was equipped by the Masquers under the direction of Carl Glick, one of the most successful directors Montana has ever had. He cleared up a debt of $800 with two productions, asked for and obtained the use of one wing of Simpkins hall and started the Little Theater. The building was erected by the government during the war to train officers. It became a class building after the Armistice was signed.

The left wing was reconstructed under the direction of Mr. Swearingen, maintenance engineer of the University, during the summer of 1926. Masquers opened their new theater with a production of "The Bad Man," directed by Mr. Glick. President C. H. Clapp, Mr. H. G. Merriam, Dean Stone and N. B. Beck spoke at the dedication performances which were very successful.

Little Theater Movement. A new activity in the last two years has been their sponsoring of the Little Theater movement for the high schools of the state. Interest in this activity has been very great. Mr. Angus has received six applications for the May contest. Actors trained in the high schools of the state for this contest are coming to the University and are doing very fine work in Masquer productions.

Last summer session a group of Masquers gave the first full evening performance of their history, directed by William Garver. It was hoped that this can be carried out again. It is the tradition of the Masquers to learn by doing.

NOT WHISKERS

That Will Be Raised at Scribes' Banquet.

Dutch Corby, president of the Press Club, denied early this morning the rumor that club members would raise whiskers for the Press Club banquet. "The Shack," said Dutch when interviewed, "is entirely democratic. There are some few of us would find whiskers impossible as well as impracticable."

"The Press club," Dutch went on to say, "will provide napkins. And, on the other hand, a great saving in food will be effected through hirsute ban."

"Whiskers," concluded the journalistic leader, "is not what will be raised."

The Press club banquet will be held in Bonner the afternoon and evening of February 27.

COLD WEATHER CAUSES MANY FROZEN MAINS

Three Sorority and One Fraternity House Have Trouble.

One fraternity and three sorority houses on the campus were only partially occupied this week because of frozen water mains, a general condition throughout Missoula resulting from the cold weather of the past month.

The fraternity is Sigma Nu, and the sororities are Alpha Xi Delta, Kappa Delta and Alpha Chi Omega.

City engineers assign an unusual reason for the frozen mains. They say that during the cold weather there was little trouble but the thaw of the past few days has driven the frost deeper into the ground.

Repair of mains in Missoula has been made with difficulty. Fires had to be built on the ground before excavations could be started. In some cases whole blocks of houses have been frozen out.

"Folks, how can I make Whoopee up here... when down in front the 'coughers' are whooping?"

"Maybe the audience would be grateful if I stepped to the footlights some night and voiced the above protest about the 'coughing chorus' down in front.

"But that wouldn't be kind and it wouldn't be just. The cougher doesn't cough in public on purpose. He can't help it. It embarrasses him as much as it annoys his neighbors.

35 MEN TURN OUT FOR EARLY TRACK WORK; PRACTICE INDOORS

Captain Tom Davis to Be In Charge at First Workouts.

Thirty-five track aspirants have answered Coach Stewart's spring practice call issued last Wednesday. It is expected that more than sixty will be turning out daily with the next two weeks. Practice will be under the direction of Captain Tom Davis until the basketball season ends, at which time Coach Stewart will commence on his daily program.

Practice will be conducted indoors until weather conditions permit the men on the track. Only preliminary workouts will be held during the coming few weeks which will round the men into shape gradually and limber up their muscles for a short strenuous practice outdoors before the conference schedule opens May 4 at Seattle. On April 16 the annual inter-collegiate meet and Varsity tryouts will be held on Dornablaer field.

Promising Material.

With an array of promising material out this year Coach Stewart should repeat another successful year on the track and field and has brought to Montana many laurels and gratifying wins. The Grizzly track squad has for the past number of years held a commanding position in the Northern Division of the Pacific Coast Conference and should repeat its past performance this season.

Last year the Grizzly squad lost some very valuable men and their loss will undoubtedly be felt this year. These men are Barks Adams, captain of last year's squad, Carl Tysel, and Kenneth Davis, all valuable distance men. Steve Hansen, two miler, also graduated last year. Howard Hill, sprinter, is now attending the State School of Miles at Butte and will not return to the University in the spring.

Lynn Thompson Missed.

In the sprints and hurdles the squad will keenly feel the loss of Lynn Thompson, who has withdrawn from school and will probably not be back in the spring, and George Woodworth, who has also withdrawn from school. Tom McCarthy, distance man, is now attending school in Washington, D. C. In the pole vault Jake Miller left a hole in points by graduation last year. However, Coach Stewart has promising men in Allan Burke, Ray James and Billie Burke.

In the discus throw the squad loses Clark Whitcomb, Dossia Shults and Franklin Spencer. It is possible, however, that Spencer will return to school the spring quarter and partly fill the gap left open by the loss of the other two men.

Otto Bessey, state champion javelin tosser, who is now taking graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh, will be missed in the field events.

The 1929 schedule follows:

April 26—Inter-class meet and Varsity tryouts.

May 4—Relay carnival at Seattle.

May 11—Duel meet—Montana State at Missoula.

May 17—Triangular meet—Washington State College, Idaho and Montana at Pullman.

May 25—Duel meet—University of Idaho at Missoula.

June 1—Pacific Coast conference meet at Eugene.

June 7-8—National collegiate meet at Chicago.

Davis Still Leads Free Throw Contest

All Entries Must Complete the First Round by Monday.

Bob Davis of Butte is still leading the free throw contest with 21 points. Yesterday more than 70 men had thrown in this contest. Anyone who expects to enter must compete in the first round not later than Monday as this is the closing date set by Harry Adams. Anyone scoring more than 17 points in the first round out of a possible 25 will qualify for the second round, which must be completed Monday and Tuesday. So far 15 entrants have scored the necessary points to get in on the second 25 shots.

Bischoff Speaks to Members of Rotary

Discusses Political Situation in South and Central America.

Paul Bischoff, instructor in foreign languages, spoke on "Central America" at the noon luncheon of the Missoula Rotary club Wednesday.

Mr. Bischoff discussed the present political situation in Central and South America, the climate of the region, and the Nicaraguan situation.

"During the time that I was in the Tropics," Mr. Bischoff said, "the thermometer never went higher than 85 degrees or lower than 55. The nights are somewhat similar to the summer nights in Montana."

ST. VALENTINE'S Passes Without Causing Great Stir.

It was just another of those little tragedies of the commonplace of student life which happened yesterday. Bill Jones (fictitious name) went over to see his steady girl and reposing in his hand was a ten-cent Valentine greeting card, for it was the middle of the month and Bill had but lately bought a Foresters' ball ticket, saving barely but two bucks for incidental expenses.

On Bill's arrival he found the g. f. munching contentedly on chocolates from a five-pound box sent by an hitherto unknown entrant in the lists. Bill helped eat the chocolates. Now Bill's wondering just who the tragedy included.

Speaking seriously St. Valentine's day passed by the campus with not much more than a ripple. It is possible that several professors received comic valentines from undergrads, a custom remaining from the dark ages. But stationery houses did not report a big boom in business.

Forest Supervisor Speaks.

"Duties of the Ranger" was the topic which J. F. Brooks, supervisor of the Missoula national forest, chose as his subject Wednesday night at a regular meeting of the Druids at the Forestry school.

The Day's Question: Are you in favor of baseball being abolished as a major sport at Montana?

Where asked: Men's gym. Dave Williams: No. Baseball is the only sport in which Montana has ever won a conference championship. And I believe we are the only school in the conference that plans on abolishing it.

Jimmy Gillan: No. If it is necessary to withdraw from the conference because of financial difficulties, we could arrange games with nearby schools.

Don Wilson: I believe so. Baseball has always been a loss from a financial standpoint, and Major Milburn, who has previously devoted part of his time to coaching baseball can now get in a more intensive spring football practice.

Harold Fitzgerald: No. We have a better chance of winning in baseball than in any other sport, regardless of our comparatively small enrollment to other conference schools. Clarence Muhlick: Abolishing baseball will do a lot of men out of a chance of making a letter. If we can't afford to play a conference schedule, we could at least arrange a schedule with nearby colleges.

BUSINESS ADS TAKE FOUR WINS

Pharmacists, Barristers in Tie for Second Place.

By taking a hard fought game from the Lawyers Wednesday night, the Business Administration team earned the undisputed lead in the inter-collegiate basketball tournament. The bookkeepers swamped the Foresters, 50-10, Tuesday night to add another to their string of victories which now totals four without a defeat.

In Wednesday's game, the Lawyers fought hard but were not able to overcome the fast and experienced Business Ad squad which was working hard to win as this was virtually the deciding game of the tourney. The score was close all the way and the winners were not safe until the last gun ended the game with the count at 21-17. The Business team has only one game to play, that being with the Pharmacists.

By winning this last game, the pen-pushers will retain the title they won last year. LeRoux of the Business Ad team garnered four baskets in the last game for eight points and tied for scoring honors with Priest of the Law School, who registered two goals and four free throws.

Pharmacists Tie.

The Pharmacists went into a tie with the Barristers for second place by humbling the Foresters in the other game Wednesday night, 26-6. Mowatt and Grover of the Pharmacy school scored eight points apiece. Jost scored the only basket that the woodsmen were able to get. The losers scored four free throws for the rest of their points. This was the fourth defeat for the Foresters who must be devoting more of their time to the Big Dance tonight than they are to casaba tossing.

LeRoux Leads Scoring.

In Tuesday night's encounter, LeRoux again led the scoring by sinking 10 baskets for a total of 20 points. Rohlfis, Business Ad forward, garnered 12 points, while Grove was the only effective shot for the Foresters and made eight. By a successful stall late in the game, the Journalists were able to defeat the Arts and Science outfit in the second game Tuesday. With four minutes to play the Scribes took the lead and then held the ball for the remainder of the game. The final score was 24-22. This victory put the winners into a tie for fourth place with the losers.

As a result of his expert shooting this week, LeRoux was able to increase his total for the tourney and retain his lead in individual scoring. He now has a total of 54 and is way ahead of the rest of the field.

The next games will be played Wednesday, Feb. 20, when the Arts and Science team engages the Pharmacists and the Journalists take on the Foresters. The last game of the tourney, between the Journalists and Lawyers, originally scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 23, has been changed to Tuesday, Feb. 26.

GRIZZLIES REST, WAITING FOR ST. CHARLES, MONDAY, TUESDAY

Basket Shooting Drill Is Being Emphasized for Montana Men.

After a week's rest the Montana Grizzly quintet will engage the Mount St. Charles aggregation in a two game series Monday and Tuesday nights in the University gymnasium. Both games will start at 8 o'clock sharp.

During the past week Coach Stewart has been drilling his men in basket throwing. Inaccuracy has cost the Grizzlies most of its games this season. With improved marksmanship the Grizzly squad will be in good condition to meet the Saints in what should prove to be two very interesting games.

Coach Eaton brings to Missoula a scrappy contingent, well versed in basketball strategy and a couple of sharpshooting stars. The Hilltoppers have improved one hundred percent during the last month and will demonstrate a good brand of basketball the first of next week. Coach Eaton is handicapped by a small number of available men but nevertheless has developed a fighting and impressive basketball quintet.

During the course of the season Coach Eaton has developed two sharpshooting aces in Gross, center, and Garner, forward, both of whom have garnered impressive tallies throughout the season. Scheewe, forward, also has a good eye for the basket, while Evans and O'Connor have developed into reliable and heady guards. In a two game series with the Utah Aggies the first of the week Gross tallied 11 points in the first game while in the second he looped 10 field goals and one foul goal for a total of 21 points.

The last of the week Coach Stewart will take the Grizzly squad to Moscow where they will play a return game with the Idaho Vandals Monday night, February 22. Tuesday evening they will play the last conference game of the season with Washington State College at Pullman. From there the Grizzlies will travel to Spokane to play a return game with Gonzaga University to end the 1929 basketball season.
